U. S. Concern Is Centered Upon Pacific Islands

Future Control Of Islands Taken By U. S. Up To U. N. For Decision

TRUSTEESHIP FOR TEMPORARY CHARGE

By GEORGE DUNNO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Future control of key islands in the Pacific gave America's delegation to the United Nations General Assembly more concern today than such matters as abrogation of the veto power and castigation of Franco Spain.

United States spokesmen were waiting for instructions from the White House, the Navy Department and the Air Force on this touch subject.

A closed meeting of the American delegation debated the problem, found themselves embarrassed, and finally called on Washington for guidance.

Former Jap Islands Involved

Involved are islands formerly held by the Japanese which were stormed and captured in the course of winning the Pacific war, and upon which the United States invested many millions of dollars in Air Force, Navy and Army installations.

They include the Marshalls, the Marianas, the Gilberts, Okinawa and the Iwo Jima.

The United Nations Assembly is about to set up a trusteeship council to dole out temporary charge of enemy territory all over the world.

This set-up will replace the mandates granted after World War I by the old League of Nations.

So far as the United States is concerned, Pacific territory is the principal consideration. Some of the islands where tens of American dollars were poured in during the last four years are either in dispute

Accidental Bullet Kills Young Bride, Police Investigate

Mrs. Katherine Galloway Of State College, Pa., Victim As Husband Cleans Gun

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 26.—(INS)—Mrs. Katherine D. Galloway, 20, a bride of 34 days, was fatally wounded today when a gun her husband was cleaning discharged accidentally in their trailer home at Pennsylvania State College.

Centre County Coroner Charles Shekeler said the woman, a resident of Nanticoke, died shortly after being struck in the chin with a bullet from a .32 calibre revolver.

Shekeler said John Edward Galloway, 23, of Harrisburg, a veteran attending State college, was cleaning the gun in the trailer kitchen when it discharged.

The coroner reported that the bullet entered the woman's chin, went down her neck and apparently lodged in the spine. He said an inquest would be conducted later.

State College police were conducting an investigation.

Reuther Demands All Wage Controls Now Be Dropped

DETROIT, Oct. 26.—(INS)—United Automobile Workers—CIO President Walter P. Reuther demanded today that all remaining controls on wages be abolished and the National Wage Stabilization board dissolved.

In a letter to President Truman, the union head charged that wage controls are "intolerable" as a result of the lifting of restrictions on prices.

Reuther further claimed that inflation already has wiped out wage gains made by workers last winter.

Says She Killed Dad To Please Mom

Janet Lind, right, 12, confessed to the Superior, Wis., district attorney that she shot and killed her father, Clifford S. Lind, 39, as he slept because she thought "it would make mother happy". The mother, Mrs. Irene Lind, left, 33, was visiting in Pontiac, Mich., on the night of the murder, and had been accompanied east by Tony Galaski, Dairyland, Wis. Both Mrs. Lind and Galaski are being held for questioning.

Child Slayer Of Father Is Awaiting Sentence

SUPERIOR, Wis., Oct. 26.—(INS)—A little 12-year-old girl who interrupted a conversation with her father on Oct. 18 to "get rid" of her father with a .22 calibre rifle looked forward today to a lonely life—separated from her mother and sister.

Janet Lind apparently was a normal sixth grade pupil in a Superior school last week—before she carried out her threat to kill her father, Clifford Lind, "to make mamma happy."

She was expected to come before Juvenile Court Judge A. Walter Dahl today. He must decide if she will be sent to the Oregon, Wis., Industrial School for Girls or be placed in a new home as a ward of Douglas county.

Mother Is Sentenced
Before she was sentenced in two courts yesterday, the child's mother, Mrs. Irene Lind, 32, admitted she only lightly rebuked Janet for the little girl's threats to do away with her father.

Mrs. Lind's "ill-temperament" with a lumberjack she met five months ago in a tavern was termed by the prosecution as "the indirect cause" for the slaying of her 39-year-old husband, a machinist.

Before she was sentenced to one to three years for adultery and one year for contributing to the delinquency of a minor—both on pleas of guilty, Mrs. Lind admitted she listened to Janet's threats. The mother said her daughter once before attempted to slay her father by turning on the gas on the kitchen range.

Police Arrest Nearly 200 In Film Strike

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26.—(INS)—For the second time in two weeks a mass arrest of demonstrating film strikers was carried on by police early today before the gates of Columbia studios, where a huge throng of 4000 gathered before dawn in the film strike's latest development.

As they did two weeks ago police moved in when the marching crowd would not obey an order to disperse. Nearly 200 were seized and loaded into waiting patrol wagons which shuttled back and forth between the scene of the arrest and Hollywood police station.

It was reported that three high union officials were among those arrested. Only a few women were among those held compared with the dozen and a half arrested in a similar mass arrest two weeks ago.

New York Bride Slain In Mexico

Mrs. Nancy Beech, 22, Slain; Husband Wounded By Mexican Bandits

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Mexican national police revealed today that a youthful New York bride was shot to death and her husband wounded by bandits who invaded their honeymoon camp at the edge of the Balsas—"the river of no return."

She is Mrs. Nancy Beech, 22, a Bryn Mawr graduate, who was married to Edward Beech only a few weeks ago in New York.

Beech, who said three bandits fired on them without warning yesterday morning, was wounded in the hand.

Sunday Voting In Bulgaria Provides Test

Diplomatic Observers See Attitude On Western Vs. Eastern Democracy As Issue

ALLIED COUNCIL SEEKS HONEST COUNT

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Bulgaria's Sunday elections today were regarded by diplomatic observers as furnishing a new test of western versus eastern democracy in the heart of territory regarded by Russia as her own.

All the past week the state department has placed heavy emphasis on its interest in this smallest but most strategically located of the Balkan states. It is the nation considered more closely knit to Moscow of all the countries in the area.

State Department Deductions

State department experts were reported to feel that, in spite of this close allegiance to Moscow of the present regime, fair elections would show a substantial majority favoring the western democracies.

This deduction was based largely on the apparent reluctance of the local government and Soviet representatives on the Allied control council to allow an open campaign and certainly honest elections.

Bulgaria, the gateway through continental Europe to European Turkey and the vital Danubian waterway into the Black Sea, has been the focus of the news only early this week. But, of all the Russian satellite states, it is the only one with which Washington has not re-established diplomatic relations.

Bulgaria's geographic position in relation to the Danubian basin has always been significant. During the war the fact that Germany maintained air forces in that country, able on a moment's notice to destroy Istanbul or Ankara, exerted

Charges Government With Hoarding Of Building Material

DETROIT, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Charges of hoarding huge stores of scarce building materials were leveled off today against federal government officials.

The accusations came from Arthur R. Marcus of the National Veterans Housing committee, who now is conferring with Detroit veterans housing officials on the vet housing program.

"My investigations indicate that vast stores of building material are being hoarded by government officials," Marcus asserted, "in an effort to prove that private industry is incapable of providing housing for veterans."

Shrine Caravan To Meet Monday

By ED ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The so-called "general debate" now going on in the United Nations general assembly at Flushing Meadows is the biggest "gripe session" in human history.

Each of the 51 nations has been invited to state its grievances and to air the general policies which it intends to pursue during the real business deliberations of the assembly.

No resolutions are under discussion and no motions are being made. The "general debate" originally was intended to last four days but because of the length of some of the speeches it has been extended.

Most of the speakers so far have been more or less critical of the way in which the "big five" veto is being used in the security council.

Norway today was expected to follow the speech of Britain's Philip

Special Prosecutor Fired For Statements By Attorney General

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(INS)—O. John Rogge, special assistant to the attorney general, was fired today for allegedly violating a promise not to discuss publicly a report involving two persons in the government's mass sedition trial.

Attorney General Tom Clark announced Rogge's dismissal in a statement issued shortly after midnight in which he specifically mentioned Rogge's references to the two defendants in a speech Tuesday night at Swarthmore, Pa.

Rogge's dismissal was effective at the close of business yesterday.

Report Filed In September

The cases now pending in the U. S. District Court for the District of Columbia involve Gerald P. Winrod and Joseph McWilliams. The report was filed with Clark on September 20, 1946.

Clark said that Rogge had recommended in the report that both cases be nolle prossed.

Last Monday, Clark recalled, he and Rogge had discussed newspaper stories claiming quotations from the report. Clark said Rogge stated he had "no intention of using the text or substance of the report."

Plan For B-29 Group Flight To Alaska Soon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Plans for the flight of about 35 B-29 Superfortresses to Alaska were revealed today as aviation scientists concluded that air operations are highly practicable over the worst Arctic wastes.

Army air forces officials disclosed that the Superforts will leave the west coast within a few days and fly the normal route to the frozen Arctic.

Regular Bomb Group

The AAF spokesmen said that the huge bomber will comprise a regular bomb group of 30 planes. An additional five B-29's will go along as "spares." Designated the 28th bomb group, this flight of Superforts will fly to Elmendorf field at Anchorage, Alaska.

The spokesmen also disclosed that a squadron of P-51 Mustangs from the famous 35th fighter group also will fly from the United States to Alaska, about a month after the departure of the B-29's.

Meanwhile, the expert Institute of Aeronautical Science concluded after a special parley in Washington that routine, full-scale military and commercial air operations over the Arctic are not only possible but highly practicable.

The aviation scientists cautioned, however, that these operations will be possible only if the latest and most elaborate possible electronic and radio navigational aids are fully functioning over polar regions.

Youth Loses Hand In Tractor Mishap

Ivan Kauffman, aged 18 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kauffman of R. D. 1, New Wilmington, suffered the loss of his right hand Friday afternoon while working about a tractor on a farm in his home district.

The young man caught his right arm in the power take-off from the tractor, receiving injuries so severe that it was necessary to amputate the hand, just above the wrist.

On Monday, France, traditional peace maker and compromiser of the "big five," will state its policies. If it backs the United States, which already has the support of China, the "big five" will be divided four to one in favor of the American atomic declaration.

As soon as the "general debate" is over, and all the countries have published their feelings to the world, the assembly will move back and brief-case back to the UN headquarters at Lake Success for the committee meetings.

Each of the main committees has 51 members, and there the real

Norway Calls For Some Action Against Franco

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Norway today joined the growing procession of nations to condemn Franco Spain as a "stronghold of fascism" and called for some decisive action by the United Nations against the Madrid regime.

Chief Delegate Halvard M. Lange told the U. N. General Assembly: "The Norwegian people, who have passed through the terrible experience of totalitarian occupation, are deeply concerned at the fact that Spanish people are still languishing under the rule of a regime created with the military help of the defeated Axis powers."

Friday on the East Brook road, when he is believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel as he was returning to his home at R. D. 3, Volant, and went off the highway, his car crashing into the ditch.

The young man, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Womer, received a cerebral concussion, laceration of the hand and lip and multiple bruises and abrasions.

ROB COMPANY SAFE WITH COPS NEARBY

EL CERRITO, Cal., Oct. 26.—(INS)—A scarlet hue tinged the faces of police in the East San Francisco Bay community of El Cerrito today when anyone mentioned the Griffin Lumber company.

Thieves pounded open the company's safe with a sledge hammer and stole $2,000 in cash and $300 in checks. The same safe was good for $600 in a theft last month.

Martin Griffin, owner of the lumber company, said his plant is in full view of the El Cerrito police station.

Report Goering Had Poison Ever Since Capture

Allied Control Commission Investigating Suicide Makes Report Today

U. S. OFFICIALS ARE EXONERATED

By LOWELL BENNETT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NUERNBERG, Oct. 26.—The four-power Allied control commission investigating the suicide of Hermann Goering on Oct. 16 announced today that the former Reichsmarschal had the vial of poison with which he ended his life ever since his capture.

Lists Conclusions

An official communique declared: "There is reason to believe that Goering carried the poison secreted in a cavity in his umbilical (navel)."

The commission listed six conclusions in its communique, which was amplified verbally by British Brigadier Faton Walsh and French Maj. Gen. Pierre Morel.

No Blame On U. S. Officials
The commission declared that no blame could be attached to any U. S. Security official for Goering's suicide and the entry outside his cell also was exonerated.

In the absence of Soviet Gen. Milkov in Berlin, the commission issued a communique including: "Hermann Goering had the poison in his possession and retained it until he employed it on the night of Oct. 15."

"Security measures taken were proper and were satisfactorily carried out."

"In particular, no blame for dereliction of duty is ascribed to the (Continued on Page Two)

Navy Day To Be Celebrated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(INS)—The navy, silent but still unmerged, polished up its big brass today for a tremendous salvo of speeches tomorrow—Navy Day.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, all the top admirals and every other flag officer or distinguished captain available was scheduled to speak some place in the United States at Navy Day celebrations.

In addition, the navy already has announced the assignment of ships to east coast, gulf, west coast and Hawaiian ports, so that anyone within shouting distance of salt water could view his nation's sea-going forces.

In announcing assignment of ships, the navy reminded the public of its economy drive by emphasizing that ships would be sent to ports in their normal orbit of operations.

The navy's speakers, however, were not limited to seaports, and they will spread out over the country to carry their service's message to the public.

Meadville Man Killed In Automobile Crash

MEADVILLE, Pa., October 26.—An automobile crashed into a parked truck on Route 19 near Meadville on Friday, killing Vernon Boulton, 39, of Meadville, and injuring two other occupants of the car. The victim's wife, Zella, and his son, John, 17, were taken to Meadville City hospital suffering shock and lacerations.

Boulton was returning from Pittsburgh where he had gone to pick up his son, a soldier stationed at Aberdeen, Md., and apparently fell asleep at the wheel, Coroner Luther J. King said.

Fifty Sicilian Bandits Taken

ROME, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Police captured 50 Sicilian bandits and injured several others today as Premier Alcide De Gasperi's government cracked down on partisans.

Raiders also were made against insurgents massing in mountainous regions of northern Italy.

Dispatches from Palermo said that some 300 policemen staged a "general mop-up" in one region of Sicily and captured the bandits after a pitched battle of several hours duration.

The bandits suffered further losses when they raided the Aosta division barracks apparently in retaliation for those losses. These raiders were beaten off.

De Gasperi, determined that no dissident elements may take the law into their own hands for satisfaction of grievances, ordered police and troops in northern Italy to quell a threatened uprising.

Oh, Saturday will be bright and fair, and this is more than a guess, for Friday night for the past four weeks has been what you might call a mess. The rain came down and the field was soft and the spectators, soggy and wet, had little interest in what went on, not even to take a bet. But the show must go on and bidders it did, and the grid-der went sloshing through, which only proves what a game can mean—the weather is seventy-two.

Russia's move in receding from an argument to keep the veto question off the Assembly's agenda did not mean much.

Australia, Cuba and a number of the other smaller powers are attempting to prevent the United States, Soviet Russia, Great Britain, France and China from singly blocking action by the Security Council.

Soviet Vice Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky opposed consideration of the move in a 90-minute debate and then, in the interests of "unanimity," withdrew his objections.

But, before doing so, Vishinsky pointed out that Assembly consideration would only consume needlessly time because Russia would veto any change in the United Nations charter abolishing or revising the veto power.

The United States and Great Britain were more or less walking a tight rope on the proposition. The United States sponsored the veto idea at the UNN's organizing session in San Francisco. Britain wants its retention.

American and British delegations are taking the position that anything brought up by any nation should be placed on the agenda and laid open to fullest debate. They have attacked Russia for resorting to the veto on trivial matters—but they do not advocate its repeal.

The move to ostracize Spain so long as Generalissimo Francisco Franco and his Fascist regime are in the saddle was rolling up growing weight. Already a number of governments have called for a universal break of diplomatic relations with the current Madrid seceding to Russia, France, Poland, Mexico, China and others already have done so.

Parade Route Is Shortened On South Side

Line of march of the South Side Board of Trade's first postwar halloeen parade has been shortened as a result of a suggestion by Harold Lebo, general chairman of the parade committee.

Because so many small children are planning to participate in the parade, it was considered advisable to have the line of march cross from Mill to Moravia street at Reynolds street instead of at Home street as previously planned. It was believed that the children would be too tired after a long march to enter into the fun following the parade.

Lt. George Kennedy of the city police department informed the parade committee that there would be no parking on Long avenue from Mill to Moravia streets nor on Mill street between Long and Reynolds from 6 p. m. on the night of the parade till after the festivities. There will be no parking on Reynolds street between Mill and Moravia during that time.

Parade committee announced they have appointed persons in the parade to give out free nylons to spectators along the line of march. It was further announced that the parade will start promptly at 8 p. m. instead of 8:30 p. m. as previously stated.

Political Freedom Issue
Since the war, American interest has centered on establishing political freedom in the country. At Moscow, a year ago, it was agreed that two minutes after Goering was found dead had at their disposal evidence of medical and other experts, as well as laboratory and research technicians.

Gen. Morel declared: "Although the trials were international in scope and the execution carried out by four powers, a heavy burden was taken over entirely by the U. S. Army."

"The quadripartite commission wishes to acknowledge the tremendous difficulties, known only to a few and solved in the best way, and wants to express its entire satisfaction—especially thanking Col. Burton C. Andrus, who solved the strenuous task with perfect honesty and professional honor."

He added that Gen. Markov agreed completely with the three other generals.

Seek Honest Count
Later, at a meeting of the Allied control council for Bulgaria, the American member, Major General Walter M. Robertson demanded that certain steps be taken to assure an honest count in the election.

Robertson proposed that:
1. Ballots be counted at each individual polling place without the removal of boxes.
2. The results be announced at each polling place.

3. An election commission, composed of observers from all political parties to observe the elections at each polling place.

4. Any violation of this system be reported to the Allied control council for investigation.

When the proposed was made Russian Colonel General Sergei Gerasimov, council chairman, refused to commit himself. He was believed waiting further instructions from his government.

and agreed "it would be highly unethical to do so."

The attorney general pointed out Justice department rules and regulations specify that such reports are confidential and not for public disclosure.

Charges Violated
Asserting that Rogge apparently "willfully violated the longstanding rules and regulations," Clark added: "It has come to my attention that you have made certain statements in a public address that could have only come from your report filed with me in the enumerated cases."

A careful examination of those statements and the press release which you made to the news services on the day of your speech discloses direct quotations from the report referred to.

The Swarthmore speech was highlighted by Rogge's description in detail of what he termed Nazi plans to prevent the election of President Roosevelt in 1936, 1940 and 1944.

In the speech, Rogge also mentioned John L. Lewis as among those he said the Germans sought to use to defeat the late president.

Rogge's report on the Nazi plan was circulated by a Washington columnist prior to and after his speech.

al presidents as platform guests. Before the introduction of the speaker of the evening, the report of the tellers was made, announcing the new officers.

Col. M. Thomas Tchou, former secretary of Generalissimo Chang Kai-Shek and the founder of the World Citizenship movement was the speaker of the evening and devoted most of his time to the idea of world citizenship.

He summed up the present Chinese "armed truce" between the national government and the Communists by saying that he believed with the help of the United States, China would work her way out of the difficulty without resort to more bloodshed.

"The idea of One World is really an old Chinese idea," he said. "We put it One Community. We believe the world can live as one community despite differences in race, color, religion or political philosophy."

"World citizenship is a personal matter. It is a matter of individuals being good citizens. I believe in patriotism and am an admirer of patriots, but cannot men be patriotic without periodically engaging in mutual extermination? Perhaps the trouble is not that our patriotism is not good enough, but not big enough. Is it not time when nations must unite and become citizens of the world? The world has become a community and the question is no longer whether it is one, but whether it is going to be a good one or a bad one."

Col. Tchou is apparently a sincere believer in the cause he espouses. He puts his message over with conviction and his address was one well suited to his audience and the occasion.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 26.—(INS)—One of these days, say in a few thousand years, the maps will have to be revised to show an oceanic void where Greenland is now depicted.

A Danish scientific expedition returned from the north announced today that Greenland is sinking into the sea at the rate of about 60 inches a century.

The scientists said also that Greenland's Arctic climate is becoming warmer and will ultimately be tropical.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Paulini, who wore a brown gabardine suit with pink and brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Fred Kuttisch was best man for his brother.

The newlyweds left immediately on a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination and on their return will be at home in their newly furnished apartment, 213½ East Long avenue.

Mrs. Kuttisch is employed in the business office of the New Castle News and Mr. Kuttisch is employed at the Johnson Bronze company.

P. E. O. ANNUAL GUEST PROGRAM

Afterwards, Charles I. Sager, director of music at Westminster college, and Miss Lena Mae McConnell sang delightfully a group of selections accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. B. Fowble of New Wilmington.

Two students at the school, dressed in costumes of the colonial period, acted as pages.

Following the program, Miss Mitchell, who presided, invited the group to the library on the second floor where refreshments were served by several girls, students at the school.

Next meeting will be November 8 when Miss Olivia M. Griffiths and Miss Alice Sterling will lead a panel discussion on the Declaration of Independence. Members were asked to read this document before the meeting.

Miss Griffiths and Mrs. Earl W. Weston of Ambbridge will be hostesses.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH SCENE OF WEDDING

St. Paul's church was the scene of a candlelight wedding Friday evening at 6 o'clock when Miss Dolores Maxine Knobloch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Knobloch, of 737 Chestnut street, became the bride of Walter Leroy Baskyfield, son of Mrs. William J. Baskyfield, of 215 Weaver street, and the late Mr. Baskyfield.

Rev. O. J. Warnath, S. T. M., officiated at the double ring ceremony. Lighted tapers in branched candelabras, palms, and ferns banked the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, its high round neckline embroidered with silver sequins, with long sleeves, a peplum at the waistline, and long full skirt. Her fingertip length veil fell from a Juliet cap headdress and she carried a white Bible marked with an orchid and an heirloom white lace handkerchief.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Eleanor Knobloch, as maid of honor, and four bridesmaids, the Misses Betty and Juanita Ulrich of Warren, Ohio, Winifred Young and Katherine Bevan. All the attendants wore gowns of the same style, the maid of honor, pink lace over net with a pink lace bonnet head-dress and a flower muff of pink roses and mums. The bridesmaids wore blue lace over taffeta with matching bonnet headdresses and pink and white flower muffs.

Best man was Charles Porterfield and ushers were J. Walter Knobloch, Frank Maxwell, Harold Braden, Jr., and Gene Baskyfield.

Soloist was Miss Julia Currie who sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly". Miss Ruth Weir was organist.

A reception in the church social rooms followed the ceremony with refreshments served from a table decorated with candles, baby mums and a tiered wedding cake.

European Straw

Germans may be in a state of bewilderment and doubt about their future, as a result of Soviet stalling methods which have prolonged Allied indecision on the disposition of their country, but they show a healthy distaste for communism as an alternative. The Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity Party went down to resounding defeat in the Berlin municipal elections, generally considered as the first accurate gauge of the German attitude toward the conflicting ideals of Russia and the West.

The Berlin election is one more straw in the wind to show what might happen in Poland, in Czechoslovakia and in other lands occupied only by Russia, if electoral coercion and chicanery were eliminated. The Social Democratic Party, militantly anti-communist, emerged with a commanding margin in the first free balloting in Berlin in fifteen years. The Christian Democrats, who favor federalization of Germany and who previously had carried local elections in American-occupied provinces, also showed unexpected strength in the capital. Even in Russian-zone provinces, previous local tests had given the communists only shaky pluralities.

Berlin itself, an enclave divided into French, British, American and Russian zones, has been the uneasy meeting place of the East and West. Now despite the strenuous campaign waged by the pro-Soviet ticket, it is clearly shown that western democracy is preferred. The Moscow reds are not winning friends or influencing peoples anywhere in the world. If they were doing so, the outlook for peace would be dark.

'The Butcher Of Lidice' Pays

It's wholly understandable that the Czechs weren't deterred by legalistic hair-splitting when they brought Kurt Daluege, who ordered the razing of Lidice and signed death warrants for thousands of Czechs, to justice. They found him guilty and hanged him.

The crime of Lidice was, without question, one of the most horrible of the war. Daluege, as an officer of the German police, hunted down and terrorized resistance fighters in France, Norway, Poland, the Netherlands and Czechoslovakia. Then, after the assassination of Reinhard ("The Hangman") Heydrich, Daluege ordered the Czech village of Lidice wiped out in retaliation.

Daluege was found guilty of this atrocious crime and also was convicted of arranging with the Nazi slave-labor leader, Fritz Sauckel, to send 50,000 Czechs into Germany for forced labor. Sauckel was executed in Nuremberg last week and it is fitting that Daluege now has followed him to death.

The world can only hope that in the hanging of the unspeakable 'butcher of Lidice' as well as in the executions of Goering, Ribbentrop and the other nine Nazi chiefs, potential war planners now and for decades to come have been given a lesson that may help to keep peace on earth.

Bell For Round Two

President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers, CIO, is back at the old stand again. He wants the automobile industry to pay out another round of wage increases.

This is the second demand on the automobile industry for wage increases in the postwar period. The first brought increases of 18 1/2 cents an hour—and resultant increases in the prices of cars. It also brought similar increases in other industries—and similar increases in the prices of their products. It didn't hold prices stationary while advancing wages. It was purely inflationary.

Now Mr. Reuther wants to do it all over again. He wants to do it despite the fact that most automobile manufacturers, plagued by strikes and shortages of materials, are far behind schedule and operating in the red. Any increases in wages must necessarily be reflected in further price increases. And that will be the case all along the line wherever Mr. Reuther's tactics are followed.

The way to combat inflation is not to keep on raising wages and, of course, prices, but to keep wages where they are and to bring prices down by increasing production. By providing the goods for which demand is overwhelming prices will be brought to their proper level.

Mr. Reuther would do better to attack the problem from the point of view of worker productivity in automobile plants. Current reports describe it as considerably below what it should be.

Speaking Of Congresses

Will many Americans attend the All-English-Speaking Congress in Moscow? There really isn't any such Congress and, if there were one, it wouldn't meet in Moscow. But, if there were an All-English-Speaking Congress and it met in Moscow, the Soviet government wouldn't expect delegates to register as agents of foreign powers.

At least, that is the only logical conclusion which can be drawn from the Russian embassy's complaint about the Department of Justice request for registration, according to United States law, of the Russian and Ukrainian delegates to the All-Slav Congress in New York several weeks ago. Saying that the delegates of those two Soviet 'republics' had returned home rather than comply with the registration order, Michael S. Vavilov, first secretary of the Russian embassy, declared they went 'with bitter feelings of disillusionment and hurt.' This, he said, 'makes more difficult the establishment of cultural ties between us and the United States.'

Maybe so, but this conjures up again a vision of an All-English-Speaking Congress meeting in Moscow. The idea may be termed fantastic. It may be asked why Americans, Britons, Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders, etc., if they should organize such a congress, would want to meet in Moscow. The answer is another question: Why did an All-Slav Congress want to meet in New York?

But here comes the big question: What would the Soviet government's attitude be toward an English-speaking Congress in Moscow? Well, if the Russian embassy's statement is on the square, the Soviet government would welcome such a congress.

And wipe that grin—which doesn't improve it—off your mug, Molotov.

Japan is to have a change of government on November 3, or two days before the change in the U. S.

The moon eventually may be colonized, according to scientists, but there is no proof that Russia already has taken over.

Meat prices are demonstrating again that what goes up must come down.

WASHINGTON CALLING by MARQUIS CHILDS

Truman Is Worry To Solid South

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 26.—The South is solid enough for this election. But what will happen in 1948, and after, is causing some speculation even in the deep South where the Republican party is a tame ghost, mortgaged to Robert A. Taft.

You get a question here that is the same question Democrats in the North are asking. They want to know whether President Truman will be the candidate of his party for re-election in 1948.

Certainly, the President will be challenged within his own party. The challenger is likely to be Henry A. Wallace. This is the prospect which makes old-line Democrats in the South a little uneasy. It is why they can discuss seriously whether or not the South will continue to vote Democratic as regularly as election time rolls around.

The Democrats of the South exercise a great deal of control over the party machinery. By virtue of the primary system they run the House and Senate. They are going to have a lot to say about the Democratic nominee in 1948.

The Spree Taken by Huey Long Both loyalty and tradition dictate renomination for President Truman. Conceivably, he might find a way to step out. But no matter what the reason it would be taken as a confession of failure. Then, too, by stepping out he would precipitate the feud within the party which is only held in abeyance because he represents a compromise between the two wings of the party.

The Democratic Party in Louisiana has been in the conservative, traditional pattern. Huey Long took this state on the wildest spree that had ever been seen. In the decade since Long's assassination, Democratic leaders have been trying to recover from the hang-over. Both in the state administration and in New Orleans, reform governments have fought the crookedness that was the base on which the Kingfish built his success. It has not been easy.

You can close down the obvious vice and the gambling. You can fire the crooks out of office. But the habit of corruption induced by dictatorship does very deep. That is the deadly thing about a dictatorship, whether on the Louisiana scale or the German scale.

Kingfish Is Still Remembered Once, Louisiana's schools, roads, hospitals and so on, were near the bottom of the list. The Kingfish built the schools and the roads and hospitals. They cost 10 times as much as they should have cost and the difference went to enrich the Long gang. But the buildings were there for the people to see and that is what they remember today.

In the canebrakes, in the rural counties, the name of Huey Long still invokes veneration. That is why some people think that Long's son, Russell, a young man with a good war record, may one day be a political power in the state.

The state, however, is recovering from the Long debacle. Native pride has done a lot to kindle the recovery program. The people of this city are proud that this is a port of entry for trade by air and sea with Latin America. They are doing everything they can to attract Latin-American visitors.

It is the kind of courtesy other cities could well afford to copy, but for the South the lesson of Louisiana is the golden opportunity that lay ready and waiting for a man of brilliant and ruthless ambition and brilliance. The Kingfish lies in progress. The Kingfish's rise and fall has meaning not for the South alone but for the whole country. We seem now to be entering a period of reaction. If the pendulum is pushed back too far and all change is stifled, then the way will be open for a violent counter-action. We will have created a golden opportunity for a Huey Long not a state but a national scale.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

On November 6 a 62-year-old Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) fellow, whose name does not matter, will go to jail for the next 120 days, to emerge a free man again, just as spring gets ready to come out of its winter prison.

He was arrested in September on a charge of larceny, after having served a ninety-day sentence imposed in July.

At the time of the previous sentence the judge had told him that if he appeared before him again for being drunk he would receive the longer term.

However, when he came before the court in September he pleaded that his sentence be postponed until the last chrysanthemums had stopped blooming, the last maple leaves had fallen, and winter was on the march. The judge, being a nature lover himself, agreed and November 6 was actually set as the date of the fellow's total eclipse until next spring.

Here is another jail item: The old prison ward of the Staten Island Area Station Army hospital has been transformed into an inter-denominational chapel, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish altars have been set up and services will be held by ministers, priests and rabbis.

Adjoining the chapel lounge and reading rooms have been set up, and all the remodeling expenses were paid out of voluntary contributions by patients, staff members and civilian workers.

What People Say

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK. Trygve Lie, UN secretary general, said that war may be exciting for those who do not know what war means. War may still appear to be a happy escape or a source of revenge for those remnants of Fascism who have survived our victory.

BRIGHTON.—Clement Attlee, British prime minister, said that everyone who does not take orders from the communists is described as a Fascist.

LOS ANGELES. Henry A. Wallace, former secretary of commerce, said: "I am very happy that the prospects for a peaceful world have brightened during the past month."

BOSTON. Ira T. Mosher, former president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said: "Political expediency has outwitted every other factor in combination of factors in deciding the critical issues of the war recovery period."

The Community Chest is progressing. Most of the citizens have been contacted. . . however there are some who have not as yet been given the opportunity to contribute to this most worthy cause. This coming week it is the hope of the campaign workers to accomplish the task. . . next Friday at noon all peoples should have been solicited. . . And at that time the grand total should be $38,800. . . Other towns are making their totals. . . and other towns the size of New Castle have a much higher per capita quota.

Here in New Castle our prospect for a good life is great. . . From the eyes of experts it looks like the industrial growth of the city will continue to grow. Local industries are today making plans to expand. . . some are already doing it. . . Others are now out attempting to purchase additional machinery. . . this will put more people to work.

There will be jobs for every man who wants to work. . . often times now days you hear that so many here and there are out of work. . . can't find a job. In this community any one who wants to work can find a job. The trouble is. . . some want the type of job that just isn't available.

Some of the men who are riding the 52-26 club will some day be sorry that they took advantage of the existing law. Great concern is now taking the thoughts of progressive veterans who wonder if some of the veterans are feeling that the world owes them a living. Each man who went to war left just as much at home as the next fellow. . . those who are proving themselves to be true Americans are the ones who are not sitting around today since becoming civilians.

It has taken some longer than others to resettle. . . some of the greatest complainers about not finding the right job as a civilian are the ones who hated army, navy or marine life the worse. They won't admit that the trouble lies in the fact that in the service they didn't have to THINK. It was done for them 99 percent of the time. . . temporarily now they are lost. . . time will straighten many of our good men out.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THOSE RUSSIANS

United States protests against Russian trade agreements with Sweden may well turn out to be a case of much ado about very little. It is commonly understood that the Swedish agreement will be followed up by Russia with similar agreements with Norway and Denmark. In eastern and central Europe the Russian economic strategy is to gain advantage by control of power governments. In the Scandinavian countries, where such a course is impossible, it is sought to gain the same ends by special trade agreements.

The main trouble with these special agreements is that they require more than paper contracts to make them work. Their actual basis is preferential tariffs or mutual cancellation of tariffs, and special exchange considerations. Theoretically, in the case of Sweden for example, it is presumed that Sweden will purchase exclusively certain Russian products and sell exclusively to Russia certain Swedish products. But it takes something more than theory to make the thing work.

One of Sweden's chief products, as an illustration is newspaper paper. Russia can use only a relatively small portion of the Swedish normal output. She is under similar agreement to use Finnish newspaper. But as the situation stands today, the United States has far more to offer in exchange than Russia can give. The result is bound to be that, agreement or no agreement, trade will follow its natural course. The country that has the best swaps to offer will get the business.

There is general suspicion that the preferential treaty between Russia and Sweden was a typical case of Russian international blackmail that the Swedes conceded it as a price of peace. The same suspicion applies to Norway and Denmark, where agreements are still pending. If this is the case, the Swedes are likely to be gradually disenchanted in the results.

Where compulsion can be applied, as in the early colonial days of the British and Dutch, trade can be channelled between nations or colonies. In the modern age, however, trade like water seeks its own level. It cannot be artificially debarred, because trade is activated by self-interest and will follow the course of the market.

Instead of worrying about the Russo-Swedish trade pact and sticking out our chin by diplomatic protests, our government should simply exercise its prerogatives by invoking trade barriers against both nations, which need far more from us than we need from them. This is the report, diplomatic and it usually is effective.

HOME WEDDING

Please tell me how to conduct a home wedding; that is, in what order the wedding party should proceed to the room wherein the ceremony will take place and how the room should be arranged for the ceremony.

Answer: At one end of the room wherein the ceremony will take place, put an oblong table to be used as an improvised altar. On the table set a white cloth made of linen or a lace runner, and at each end put tall white candles, flanking a low centerpiece of flowers. In front of this improvised altar place a dais if you have one; or instead a white satin pillow on which the bride couple may kneel side by side. Choose the most attractive spot in the room for this improvised altar and behind it arrange floral decorations, such as palms, evergreens, etc. bearing in mind that this will be the focal point of interest in the room. If expense is no object, you may rent from a florist small pots decorated with grasses and flowers, to be used to mark an aisle from the doorway to the place of the ceremony—the path to be followed by the bride.

The guests should arrive about 15 or 20 minutes before the appointed for the ceremony. They should, on arrival, be greeted by the parents of the bride and groom who should stand near the living room door.

When all is in readiness for the ceremony one of the ushers if there are no ushers, should escort the bride's mother to her place in the front line of the guests, at the left where the other members of the bride's family should join her.

Another usher should take the bridegroom's mother to a corresponding place on the right, where he should be joined by her husband and the rest of the groom's relatives.

The clergyman, the bridegroom and the best man enter together from a door, preferably near the end of the room where the ceremony will take place. The bridegroom and the best man should wait at the improvised altar for the bride to come in. The ushers go upstairs where the bridal party waits to start the procession which forms in the upstairs hall.

At the first sound of the wedding march the ushers, walking two by two, come down the stairs; next come the bridesmaids (two by two) then the maid-of-honor (alone); last, the bride on the right arm of her father.

Washington Reports

Soap Expected To Be Scarce For A Year
Current Shortage Is Due To Three Factors
Another Big Three Meeting Is Unlikely

(Special to Central Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Government officials predict that soap which has virtually disappeared from many store counters, will be scarce for another year.

The present shortage, they explain, is due to a combination of factors which involve the long meat famine for eastern corn imports and OPA pricing.

The tolla stripped from butchered cattle still is lacking because of the long dearth of livestock at major markets. Black market operators don't bother to retain tallow or any of the other residue from cattle.

What soap is being manufactured has been usually high priced because OPA ceilings make it more profitable to produce. Thus, housewives have been deprived of laundry soap and other cheap varieties.

Copra is still scarce, as is shipping from the Orient.

And, though the fat collection drive continues, many homemakers are turning to grandmother's method of solving the problem—they're making their own soap.

Experts on fats and oils in the agriculture department believe that quick action can be made by tapping old rich sheep surplus of oil—the babassu trees in Brazil.

Despite the report of a joint United States-Brazilian commission that development of the babassu oil supply would be impractical, agriculture department experts say that American engineers have found that it can be done.

These experts said, however, that if the babassu oil supply is developed, it should be done by private industry. They claim that one Englishman already has made a fortune on babassu tree oil.

The experts believe that one month's work would start the oil production and that a fortune could be made in six months.

Anyone interested? Washington is buzzing with the story Michael Chinito, chief of the INS Rome bureau, told President Truman during a 45-minute conference with the chief executive.

Mike told the following tale to Mr. Truman and it brought forth a sustained presidential laughter.

An American GI was trying to explain to a Russian soldier how democracy works. He tried to illustrate it by saying:

"Democracy is this: I can get on a pole or plane and go to the United States, go to Washington, get into the White House, see the president and say to him, 'Truman is lousy!'"

The Russian was dumfounded for a few seconds. Then he beamed in retaliation.

"I can go from here to Moscow, go to the Kremlin, get into Stalin's office and say to him, 'Stalin is lousy!'"

He learns to creep, to climb, to toddle. Then a few simple toys like kitchen ware, and a few unpainted blocks and other things which he can handle and make noise with, take the place of companions.

As the tiny infant gradually increases his hours awake, let him learn to spend these waking hours alone. Most of the time he needs no one to amuse him. He will entertain himself by looking at the lights and shadows, by playing with his fingers and, as soon as he can manipulate objects, by using them.

Early he discovers he can make sounds and more sounds. They afford him growing means of amusement and indeed of creation. You will talk to him, of course, as you do things for him and with him and answer his questions.

Ref. Fr. S. Ippolito, using the single ring service, officiated in the presence of a large group of friends and relatives.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown, made en train with long sleeves. Seed pearls outlined the neckline of the dress which was trimmed with tiny buttons down the back. Her finger tip veil fell from a crown of orange blossoms, and she carried a colonial bouquet of bay mums centered with an orchid.

Miss Edith Lombardi, dressed in a crown of pale blue tulle, with matching gloves and rose accessories, served as maid of honor. She carried a colonial bouquet of roses.

Pat Piccirilli attended the groom as best man.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was served to 25 guests in St. Margaret's hall, where a dinner was enjoyed later by 100 guests. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the table. In the evening a reception, attended by 300 guests, took place in St. Margaret's hall.

Upon returning from a trip to Buffalo, N. Y., and Detroit, Mich., the young couple will reside temporarily at the bride's home.

Mrs. Perretta has been employed at Neisner Bros. Inc., while her husband is affiliated with the National Radiator company. Mr. Perretta is a discharged veteran, having served with the army for four years.

Rev. Stewart is quite well versed in the Bible and is able to quote lengthy passages of scripture. He is known as a walking Bible. All this week Rev. Stewart has been heard at the C. B. M. C. conference at Ellwood City.

Special music has been arranged for the program this evening by visiting groups. The Youth for Christ ensemble will again be heard, with Rose Bender at the piano.

Outstanding speakers are presented from week to week at the youth rallies, which have been in progress in the city for the past two years.

Highland U. P. To See Motion Picture

Vivid full-color scenes from astronomy and natural science are featured in "The God of Creation," sound motion picture, to be shown at 7:45 o'clock, Sunday evening, October 27, at the Highland U. P. church, 708 Highland avenue, according to Dr. D. L. Ferguson, pastor.

Produced in the West Coast laboratory of Moody Bible Institute by Irwin A. Moon, Sc.D., "The God of Creation" is the second in a series of evangelistic films.

In the opening section of "The God of Creation," the audience takes a trip to the stars by means of solar photographs, taken through the giant 10-inch telescope of Mt. Wilson Observatory in Southern California, and views complex gyrations of our own solar system. Lapse-time photography is used to demonstrate the beauties of natural science.

Girl Scouts Begin Week's Observance On Sunday Morning

Over Million Scouts To Mark Anniversary Of Juliette Low, Scouting Founder

On this, the eve of Girl Scout Week 1946—October 27 through November 2—more than a million Girl Scouts are embarking on the second year of a two-year postwar citizenship program designed to make "Better Citizens to Build a Better World."

Largest in World
Girl Scouts, the largest organization of its kind for girls in the world, was founded in the United States almost thirty-five years ago by the late Juliette Low, in whose memory national Girl Scout Week is celebrated annually. The traditional Seven Service Days, as they are called, are set aside to demonstrate the many and varied activities which are made available to girls through the Girl Scout program. Sunday, uniformed troops will attend services in their own churches. Monday is Homemaking Day; Tuesday, Arts and Crafts Day; Wednesday, International Friendship Day; Thursday, Citizenship Day and the anniversary of Mrs. Low's birth; and Saturday, Out-of-Doors Activities Day.

The children of today will be the citizens of the world tomorrow. The future, the job of doing new things through which the waters of peace and economic stability are to flow belongs to them. With their courage and their young energy, as demonstrated by the Girl Scouts, they are the world's insurance for harmonious living. But they must be backed up. They must be guided and helped, and that job belongs to the adults.

Need for More Leaders
Girl Scouting, the common ground of understanding to all girls, regardless of nationality, race, or creed, now serves over a million girls. With sponsorship and more volunteer leaders it could serve a million more. Every woman with a hobby to share an interest in girls, or an interest in the future world, has something to offer Girl Scouting.

First Baptists To Have Motion Picture

The amazing motion picture, "The God of Creation," will be shown at the opening exercises of the Bible school at the First Baptist church, Sunday morning, October 27, at 9:30 o'clock.

The picture is produced and presented by the Moody Bible Institute, of Chicago. In the picture one sees a rose grow from the bud stage to full bloom, and among many other interesting phenomena the picture reveals the process whereby a caterpillar changes into a butterfly. The picture will be shown by Rev. Paul White, of Moody Bible Institute.

Methodists Will Mark Reformation

Methodists churches of New Castle and vicinity will mark the services on Sunday, October 27, with special sermons in many of the churches. This day is being observed throughout much of the evangelical world as Reformation Sunday.

The observance commemorates the memorable action of Martin Luther on October 31, 1917, when he nailed his Ninety Five Theses to the door of his Wittenberg church, calling upon the church and the people to purify their religious practices.

"The Christian Advocate" official weekly of the Methodist church, has called the attention of Methodists to their Protestant heritage, and it is in observance of the evangelical tradition that Methodists will mark the day. The day will be made a call to positive Christian faith.

First Church Of God Continues Revival

Evangelistic services, which have been in progress this week at the First Church of God, will continue through next week and will be concluded Sunday, November 3.

Rev. A. J. Powell, evangelist of Butler, is the speaker at this series of meetings. Appropriate music is an added feature of the services that are being conducted each evening, with the exception of Saturday, at 7:45 o'clock.

Sunday morning, during the worship hour at 10:45 o'clock of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, Miss Mabel Weimer, superintendent of the Sunday school junior department, will conduct junior church.

Special speaker for the occasion will be Miss Ruth Ewins, missionary appointee to India.

REV. THOMAS JONES AT ORGAN DEDICATION

Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, this city, will preach the dedicatory sermon of the new organ at the First Congregational church, Johnstown, Sunday morning, October 27.

Rev. Jones will also be master of ceremonies at the Gymnasia Gym which will take place Sunday afternoon and evening in Johnstown.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST NEEDS YOUR HELP . . . GIVE ALL YOU CAN!

Help your community take care of its own: the sick, the crippled, and the blind who cannot do for themselves; the temporarily disabled who require just a little boost to get back on their feet again; the children who might not otherwise have a chance to grow up, strong and healthy, to lead happy, useful lives. Your community fund is the efficient way of meeting all these—and many—more needs. By combining many charities in one, the cost of administering the fund is kept at a minimum so that every dollar collected may be spent where it does the greatest good. Inclement Weather Dampens Air Show Will Parade Sunday

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Inclement weather forced a 24-hour postponement today in the navy's plans to stage a huge aerial parade over New York and other east coast cities as a part of the general Navy Day celebration.

The navy said the 400 planes involved would make the mass flight tomorrow instead, with the first group leaving Norfolk, Va., at 9:30 a. m., and arriving over New York City two hours and 20 minutes later. The 400 planes are scheduled to pass over the nation's largest city in combat formation, rendezvous over the Statue of Liberty then return in a formation spelling out the giant letters "USN".

DRIVER FACES CHARGE

John Norrish, Pittsburgh Circle, Ellwood City, was to be charged today with having operated an auto while intoxicated at 8:05 p. m. Friday in Moravia street. He can be struck a parked car, owned by Stanley Lesnak, 24 West Long avenue, in Moravia street, near Miller avenue, according to Police Chief Robert D. Hattin. He said the information would be sworn to before Algemein E. J. Biondi.

County Ruling On Headstones

Commissioners Against Contributions For Stones Purchased Outside State

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

While the county appropriates $47.50 each for headstones for the graves of veterans, the county commissioners are unwilling to contribute the money for stones purchased out of the state. This policy was reaffirmed Friday morning when a request was made for the contribution for a stone that was to be purchased from an out of the state dealer.

The case was that of a widow of a veteran. Previously she had signed for one of the stones which the county provides. Later she decided she would get a better stone and apply the county contribution to the price. This policy has always been agreed to by the commissioners but when the lady announced she could not get the kind of stone she wanted in Lawrence county the commissioners refused to make the county contribution because the dealer was from another state.

It was the expressed opinion of the commissioners that among the stone dealers of the county any kind of marker or monument could be secured, although at the present time deliveries of stone like almost everything else are slow.

In the case of William Habib, Harry Corbin and Ford Allen against Anna May Rentz, the jury trying the case returned a verdict for $157.19 for the plaintiffs, the defendant also to pay the costs. This was a case where a contract had been entered into for the painting of some buildings of the defendant. The defendant was to furnish the materials and the plaintiffs were to be paid for their labor at the prevailing rate of 1.37 1/2 per hour. It was claimed by the plaintiffs that the defendant had paid only $150 on a bill of $307.19.

SENTENCES PASSED

'Silk Stocking' Slayer Strikes In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 26.—Police are questioning two suspects in the "silk stocking" slaying of Mrs. Anna Johnson, 50, on Youngstown's West Side, the third murder of its kind in the last year and a half in that area.
The woman's body, partly clad, was found this morning in a vacant field. A silk stocking ripped from her left leg was knotted about her throat.
Mahoning County coroner said the victim was strangled. He said an attempt at criminal assault had been made.
The circumstances were similar to those of two other murders in the same area. The nude body of Mrs. Bessie Tucker, strangled with a pair of silk panties, was found April 12, 1945, in a vacant lot about two blocks from where Mrs. Johnson's body was found today. The second victim, Mrs. Sadie King, was killed with her stockings October 2, 1945. The stockings were knotted around her neck.

The knots in each case were virtually the same, Belinsky said today. The vacant lot in which Mrs. Johnson's body was found is filled with brush and weeds. The victim's dress and undergarments had been ripped from her body.
Police Captain Eugene McEvoy, who rounded up the two suspects, said one of them had been seen by two witnesses around 10 p. m. Thursday in company with the victim not far from the murder scene.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R J SCOTT

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Hollywood's champion hunter, Robert Taylor, is off to the woods again.

Right now, gun in hand, he should be shooting pheasants near Ord, Nev. He flew up yesterday from Hollywood in a borrowed plane with Ski Champion Alex Kerr, Morgan Maree, Bob's business manager, and Ralph Couser, a pal from the star's navy flying days.

They'll spend today and tomorrow hunting near Ord and then fly to Aberdeen, S. D., to hunt more pheasants—and some geese. Next Friday they'll go to Marysville, Cal., where Actor Bob Stack has a lodge. They'll hunt ducks and geese over the week-end and then come back in Hollywood in time to vote.

Your reporter had a chin-fest with Bob before he took off. He said he's doing more hunting than he expected this fall because M-G-M hasn't found a suitable story for him to follow "Undercurrent" in which he co-stars with Katharine Hepburn.

"I love to hunt," Bob said, "but, believe me, I'm anxious to find a good story and get back to work. If you read a book you think is exceptionally good, be sure to give me a ring on it."

Your reporter has been around Hollywood for almost ten years, but Ann Southern is the first star to suggest he might be of some slight use as an actor. (Heaven forbid!)

Ann has just started a new picture, "Undercover Man," in which she plays a police woman, so a visit to the set became an order of business.

Your reporter had hardly taken his place on the sidelines when Ann came over and said: "We could certainly use you in this picture."

"Me?" said your reporter, taken aback.

"How tall are you, anyhow?" Ann continued.
"Six feet, three," replied your reporter.
"Well," said Ann, "we really need someone about six feet, five, but you'd be big enough."
"How about Rod Cameron over at Universal, he's six feet, five," your reporter suggested.
"No, the part isn't important enough for him," said Ann, emphasizing "for him".
She added:
"It's a very funny little part though."
Your reporter investigated and found the scene for which a big man is needed is one in which Ann, who is 5 feet, 2, is in a police Jiu Jitsu class and finds herself paired with a giant.
The part does offer possibilities, at that.

Words Of Wisdom

Indeed, I have very grave doubts whether a great commercial country, holding communication with all parts of the world, can better Christianize the benighted portions of it than by the bestowal of its wealth and energy on the making of good Christians at home, and on the utter removal of neglected and untaught childhood from the streets, before it wanders elsewhere. For, if it steadily persist in this work, working downward to the lowest, the travelers of all grades whom it sends abroad will be good, exemplary, practical missionaries, instead of uncouths of what the best professional missionaries can do—Charles Dickens.

Millions of pounds of poultry feathers formerly wasted or used for fertilizer now can be saved for industrial processing by washing in a simple solution.

Super-Seniority Right Of Veterans Faces Challenge

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Super-seniority of World War II veterans to civil service jobs held by "old-timers" was challenged for the first time today by a 52-year-old Philadelphia machinist.
In a suit filed in U. S. district court, Thomas W. Kirkman, formerly employed at the Frankford arsenal, charged that after 16 years service he was replaced by a veteran whose length of service at the arsenal before he entered the service was far less than Kirkman's.

The suit is the first in the country to raise the important question of whether "old-time" employees with civil service ratings must give up their jobs to ex-G. I.'s solely because of the latter having fought in the war.
Kirkman's counsel, Atty. David Berger, said the decision in the case would affect between 400 and 500 employees at the arsenal.
Throughout the nation, Berger contended, if the decision is accepted as a precedent, perhaps as many as one million older men and women now holding civil service jobs may be involved.

The veteran who replaced Kirkman was not named in the bill of complaint.

AVC Will Adopt Its Constitution

HARRISBURG, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Adoption of a constitution was slated to highlight today the second day session of the first annual state conference of American Veterans Committee members.
Approximately 250 AVC members were attending the conference designed to consolidate the 52 chapters in the commonwealth.
Officers were scheduled to be elected and a platform submitted during the final meeting tomorrow. A spokesman said the platform would include a legislative program reflecting the AVC's stand on a soldier bonus, teachers' salaries and housing.

FISHERMAN FINDS HIMSELF STRANDED IN MIDDLE OF RIVER

HARRISBURG, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Fisherman George Hain of Marysville was in a very embarrassing position—the wind blew away his boat.
Hain paddled into the middle of the Susquehanna river yesterday afternoon in a light-weight aluminum boat and settled on a large rock to do some fishing. He pulled the boat onto the shore.
But, a heavy gust of wind came up the river, caught the boat, hurled it 50 feet upstream when it landed upright and lodged on some other rocks.
Hain was unable to reach the boat and couldn't make shore so he began to wave articles of his clothing to attract attention of motorists traveling a highway along the river.
A cruising State policeman noticed Hain's plight and notified another trooper who obtained a row boat and rescued the stranded fisherman.

ZIPPER WORKERS IN MEADVILLE TO APPEAL PENALTY

HARRISBURG, Oct. 26.—(INS)—A state unemployment compensation ruling penalizing Talon Zipper workers at Meadville, will be appealed in the state superior court, it was revealed today by the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

The union's case will be carried to the appellate court before October 31 by AFL unions representing 24 employees effected by the decision, according to President James L. McDevitt.

The Unemployment Compensation Board of Review ruled last week that the workers who refused to cross picket lines at the Talon plant, were involved in an industrial dispute and must undergo a four-week penalty in addition to the regular one-week waiting period before becoming compensable.

Keeping up his training during peacetime enabled Eddie to obtain the rank of Lt. Commander when the Navy called him back to active duty at the start of World War II. Admiral Halsey's Pacific Fleet was royally entertained during the "Banjo Kings" tour of the Pacific... which played over 1000 performances for Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Marine units.

Young Girl Faces Murder Charge In Killing Of Father

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 26.—(INS)—Janet Lind, 12-year-old blond girl who said she was inspired by a radio mystery to kill her father, faced full responsibility for the shooting after undergoing a lie detector test.

District Attorney A. L. Borg said Janet exonerated her mother, Mrs. Irene Lind, 32; Tony Galaski, 29, a lumberjack, and her older sister, Delores, all of whom also underwent the test in St. Paul. Borg declared:

"The little girl exonerated her mother, her elder sister, and Tony Galaski. She said she lured to shoot the gun when playing alone. She said Tony never showed her."

"The three others verified her story."

The girl's father, Clarence Lind, 39, was shot in the head with a .22 caliber bullet Oct. 17 as he slept in his Superior, Wis., home.

At the time of the shooting, Mrs. Lind and Galaski were enroute to Pontiac, Mich. Police said they admitted a romance of several months duration.

When Janet was first questioned by police she said she and her father accidentally as she was putting away his gun.

Later, Borg said, she admitted she shot her father because "he was mean to me" and because "I wanted Mama to be happy."

Rain Cancels Ellwood Game

(Special To The News)
ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 26.—Due to a steady downpour of rain the scheduled game between Ellwood and Greenville was postponed last night and will be played tonight instead at the Lincoln high school field.

After viewing the playing field, which was a virtual lake following the rain, the school authorities called the Greenville officials and agreed to cancel.

Tonight's kick-off is set for 8 o'clock.

Mystery Of Bones Found In Furnace Partly Explained

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(INS)—The mystery of the pile of bones found in the furnace of the Standard Oil Company building remained only partly solved today.

The bones were found by a fireman when he started to build the autumnal fire. Believing he had discovered another "furnace murder," the fireman called a neighborhood doctor who in turn called State's Attorney William J. Tuohy.

Police swung into action immediately. Crime experts were called into the case, and secrecy was clamped down, but the police ran up against a stone wall.

Finally, someone called Dr. Wilton M. Krogman of the University of Chicago, one of the nation's leading anthropologists. In due time Dr. Krogman reported:

"The bones undoubtedly are those of a juvenile member of the species, homo quadrupedus. Police finally interpreted the scientific language as meaning the bones of a calf and then wondered if the meat shortage had been as bad as that."

Auto Workers To Ask For Increase

DETROIT, July 26.—(INS)—The United Automobile Workers (CIO) announced today that it will demand "about a 21 per cent" wage increase for its members in Chrysler Corporation plants next Wednesday.

A union spokesman said the UAW would go into the negotiating room asking a "substantial" pay hike.

He said it "will be armed with bureau of labor statistics" showing the living costs have risen 21 per cent since the first blanket raises were negotiated this spring.

A 21 per cent increase would add more than two dollars a day to the worker's pay.

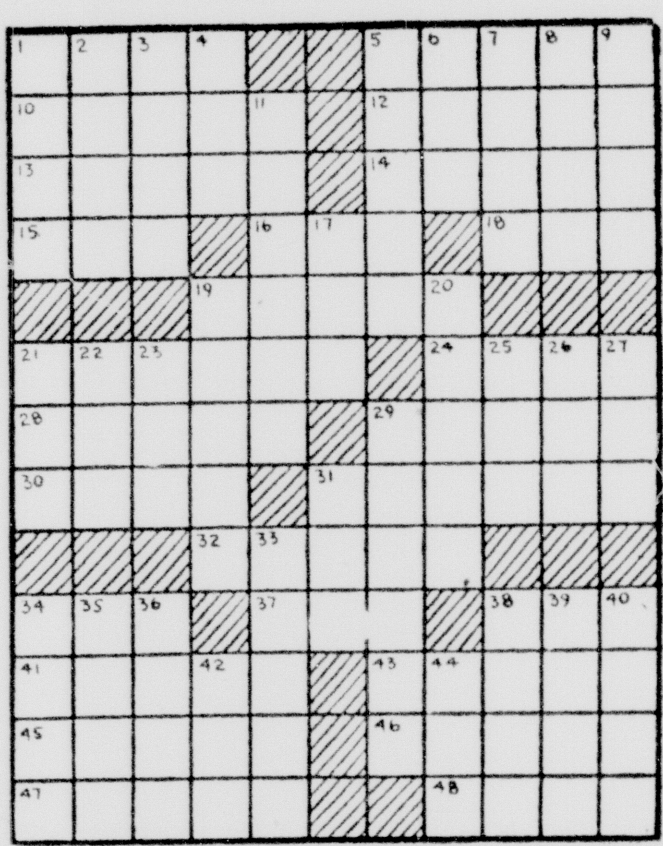

SEES POPULATION JUMP IN NORTHWEST

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 26.—(INS)—Dr. William Compton, president of Washington State college, today envisioned a Pacific Northwest with a population of 15,000,000 "within a lifetime" with the proper development of the Columbia river system.

He said Hanford, Wash., may well remain the "plutonium capital" of the world because of its abundance of clean water and low-cost power from the Columbia.

Aviation Experts Discuss Safety

New Developments In Aviation Being Considered At New York Conference

By LEE VAN ATTA
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—If you're contemplating a trans-Atlantic flight, don't worry about safety. The odds are only one in every 32,000 flights or some 100 million miles that you'll be forced down at sea. And even if you are, an increasingly elaborate international air-sea rescue organization will be promptly "at your service."

That was the heartening word for air-minded Americans brought out by a group of aviation experts speaking before a special conference of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

But while the all-out air safety drive showed improving signs everywhere in recent days, top research authorities continued their explorations into new fields to guarantee less hazards, more comfort and shorter routes for national and international airlines.

Conference In Session
Tops on the agenda today for the conference, which is being attended by leaders in every field of aeronautics, will be a thorough probing of Arctic navigation, first step in opening up the polar regions to routine commercial-military flights.

Maj. Norman Hays, navigator of the polar-girdling, Hawaii-to-Cairo "Pacusan Dreamboat" flight, was to head the discussion while Sir Robert Watson-Watt, British "daddy" of radar, was also scheduled to speak. Highlight of the first day's meeting was a detailed explanation of two radical developments in the "blind flying" field.

The first was the "teleran," an instrument combining television radar, and air navigation to allow pilots—even in the worst fog and rain conditions—to operate with a safety degree hitherto unknown in aviation.

"Teleran," a rapidly advancing experimental product of R. C. A., becomes literally the photographic eye of a pilot aloft.

Can Get Needed Information
By constantly checking it and by supporting television contact with ground radar stations, any airman may know how many planes are around him or how far away; may get constant weather checks; may land on airports even though the weather is "ceiling zero" and has a perfectly photographed terrain study.

Barring pilot error or mechanical failure, the instrument is expected to virtually do away with airport crashes in dangerous landing weather and with aircraft hitting mountains.

The two flying enemies—weather and terrain—have accounted for the largest percentage of fatal U. S. air accidents in recent months.

The second "weapon for safety" introduced was the micro-waves landing system, a development of the Sperry Gyroscope Co.

By employing special radio beams, pilots are given almost automatic and highly accurate landing "instruction" on airfields even though the weather may be completely closed-in at the field itself.

MARK TREES NOW TO PROVIDE LUMBER

With building materials scarce and high in price, farmers who plan to build may find it worth while to cut some timber from their farm woodlots.

One of the first steps is to make a bill of material, showing the sizes and numbers of timbers and boards which will be needed. Then the trees to be cut should be marked, keeping in mind the requirements of the building. This marking can best be done while the leaves are on the trees, as leaves are a guide as to the trees to be removed.

The leaflet, "Using Home-Grown Timber on the Farm," may be obtained upon request from the Agricultural Extension office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle. Plans for farm buildings are also available at the same office.

Miss McCluskey at present is serving as port liaison officer with the American Red Cross at Bremerhaven, Germany and has been in the European theater for a year.

She arrived in Europe at Le Havre, France and for a time was field representative in the Paris area. Prior to being transferred to Germany she was port officer at Le Havre. She has been in Germany since June of this year.

Geologists Study Preserved Reptile From Ancient Age

Found In Alaskan Glacier, Reptile Believed To Be Millions Of Years Old

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Geologists were deep in study today over remains of a reptile which may prove to be preserved prehistoric saurian from the days when the earth was young.

The remains were described in Anchorage by Don P. Knudsen, photographer who took a tooth from the strange animal.

Knudsen expressed belief that the body of the reptile had been preserved in an Alaskan glacier for millions of years and floated to sea in an iceberg, detached from the glacier.

The iceberg probably melted when it reached warm water, he said. There are three glaciers within 100 miles of the scene.

Knudsen said he heard of the find through the civil air patrol and flew to the scene with Bill Renfrew, an Anchorage lawyer.

The photographer told how they found the remains at the high tide mark on a rocky beach near the tip of the Kenai peninsula, about 150 miles from Anchorage. Knudsen described it thusly:

"It looks like something out of an encyclopedia, or like a cartoonist's idea of what the world was like millions of years ago."

"It is 18 feet, 10 inches long from tip to tip. Of the total, the tail is 5 feet, 5 inches long. The head is 3 feet, 6 inches long and 2 feet, 2 1/2 inches wide."

"There were 22 teeth in the lower jaw and 20 in the upper jaw when I found it, but I brought one back with me. It is about three and a half inches long and sharp pointed."

Recover $90,000 Money Shipment At Cullman, Ala.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(INS)—The Post Office Department announced Friday that a $90,000 shipment of money had been stolen and recovered at Cullman, Ala., and a 32-year-old postal clerk has been charged with the theft.

Chief Postal Inspector James J. Doran, who made the disclosure, identified the clerk under arrest as Simeon E. Gibson, Jr.

The money, which had been missing since the morning of Oct. 8, "was recovered in an outbuilding near Cullman post office," Doran said. The recovery was made by postal inspectors aided by secret service agents.

The $90,000 was a shipment from the Federal Reserve bank at Birmingham to the Leech National Bank at Cullman.

The money shipment was mailed at Birmingham on Oct. 7 and was received at the Cullman post office the same afternoon and was placed in the post office vault over night because the Leech bank was closed.

Doran said that Gibson had access to the vault.

Y.M.C.A. Benefits By Chest Funds

Work Done By Institution Is Large Factor In Betterment Of City

Some think that the Y.M.C.A. is a clubhouse for men and boys, others know it as a place where underprivileged youngsters can go for a swim or shower; still others think of it in terms of basketball tournaments, night schools, camping or Hi-Y clubs.

To millions of fighting men and prisoners of war, the Y meant "something to do during idle hours"; the Chinese connect it with first aid and public health, while the South Americans think of co-education and athletics when they think of the Y, and the people of Mexico and India associate it with better farms, home industry, and cleaner villages.

Perhaps this is as it should be for when an organization grows for a century or more and spreads to the corners of the earth it comes to mean many different things to many different people.

Here in New Castle, where the Y is maintained partly through the Community Chest, it also means different things to different men and boys—donations for over sixty persons, gym activities and swimming, Gray-Y and Hi-Y clubs, ping-pong and pool.

The keynote of the Y work this fall and winter is service to the youth of the community through an expanding program of club work.

Plans are laid for 23 boys' clubs, including seven Hi-Y clubs, eight Gray-Y clubs, two Bible clubs, two junior forum clubs, two neighborhood clubs, an emblem club, and a leaders corps. Supplementing the boys' clubs, three clubs for young men will be revived after being dormant during the war.

With this expanded program, the Y.M.C.A. hopes to make its basic purpose a reality, and to become indeed a friend to boys and young men.

Ex-Servicemen To Take Police Test

Atty. Ralph Cooper, secretary to the City Civil Service Commission for police, today reported that with a test for prospective police set for December 3, more than 50 applicants have received application blanks, 90 per cent of whom are ex-servicemen.

At present there are 14 men serving temporarily.

Some time ago Mayor John P. Haven, head of the police department, and Safety Director D. O. Davies, head of the fire department, requested the commissions for police and firemen to hold an examination.

Secretary Cooper has arranged for the police test and stated today that the firemen's commission will meet in the near future, and no doubt a date for a fireman's test will be set.

Mr. Cooper's office is in the L. S. & T. building, where application blanks may be procured.

The term "bit," which is a common expression in New Mexico, was derived when the early Spanish clipped silver dubbions into eight equal parts, each one being a "bit." Thus the terms two-bits, four-bits

See Car Backlog Carrying To 1948

DETROIT, Oct. 26.—(INS)—The backlog of new car orders will carry over through 1948. So-called 1948 models will differ very little from the current "warmed over" 1941 jobs. "Cheap" automobiles will not be marketed before 1948.

The authority for these statements is T. H. Keating, general sales manager of Chevrolet, largest division of General Motors Corp. Keating told a news conference today.

"As far as we can see, we cannot possibly catch up with new car demand for at least a year and a half. Maybe not then, although we are producing at the rate of 1,000 cars a week more than our nearest competitor."

"Our new models will be out some time between the middle of December and the last of January. They will not be much different than the cars we are making now."

"Whether or not we are making money, I do see how prices can be reduced in the face of the present situation where we have shortages all along the line."

"We have desisted—but not killed time between the middle of December and the last of January. Just the same, there's nothing we can do in that direction while we still have insufficient supplies to make the cars we already have on order."
